JAPS OFFERED AID TO REBELS

Money, Soldiers, and Ammunition in Return for Concessions Proposed.

MESSAGES FROM BRYAN

Constitutionalist Leader in Receipt of Unofficial Communications from Secretary of State.

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, Oct. 27. Via Nogales.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, commander-in-chief of the Constitutional forces in Mexico and dominant head of the present revolt against the Huerta regime, made the declaration in an interview here tonight that, irrespective of an election in Mexico, the revolution will continue.

Carranza predicted the complete overthrow of Huerta and his allies in a short time, and in declaring that the Constitutionalists had refused and would refuse any foreign aid he revealed the fact that several months ago he received from Japanese sources an offer to arm a large body of Japanese in Mexico in active support of the Constitutionalists against the Huerta government. This offer, Gen. Carranza says, he promptly declined.

It had been reported that a tender of aid in the form of money, arms, and soldiers had been made by Japan to Carranza to be in payment for certain prospective colonization privileges in Mexico for the Japanese, and that the plan involved the bringing in of 60,000 men from Nippon.

Approached by Jap.

"While I was at Piedras Negras some time in May or June, I believe, a Japanese came to me and offered to arm the Japanese in the state of Coahuila and ally them with the Constitutional forces in the fight against the Huerta government," said Gen. Carranza. "I do not recall who the Japanese was, except that he was a private citizen, and as far as I know had no connection with the Japanese government."

Gen. Carranza is silent regarding any relationship between the Constitutional movement and the United States government and declined to discuss and diplomatic phase of the Mexican situation, but it is understood here that negotiations passing through unofficial channels between the government at Washington and the Carranza leaders and representatives will result beneficially for the Constitutional cause.

Roberto Paez, who formerly was diplomatic agent of the Constitutionalists in Washington, left this city for the American Capital several days ago bearing important communications from Gen. Carranza to the Washington junta for unofficial consideration of the hands of State Department officials.

Communications from Bryan.

During the last few days communications from Secretary of State Bryan have been transmitted through American consuls to Gen. Carranza relating to the reported treatment of Americans in Mexico always in an unofficial manner.

Gen. Carranza received such a communication from Secretary Bryan today urging the immediate release of nearly one hundred Germans, Frenchmen, Englishmen, and other Europeans who have been reported as being prisoners in the hands of the Constitutional forces who recently captured Torreon, in the State of Coahuila. These communications, while unofficial, are regarded by Carranza leaders here as an approach toward recognition of their cause by the United States.

Strange to say, however, the recognition of the revolutionary movement by the American government by the Constitutionalists is less desired from the United States than by the Constitutionalists, who claim that the United States is less desirous of the embargo at the border on munitions of war. A revocation of President Taft's executive order, which makes illegal the shipment of arms, ammunition, and other war material into Mexico from the United States, they claim would result in the speedy and complete triumph of the Constitutional cause.

FOR SHAFT TO JANE M'AFEE.

Mrs. Champ Clark, who is honorary chairman of the committee of the Jane McAfee Chapter, D. A. B., of Harrodsburg, Ky., has issued a call for all descendants of Jane McAfee, a heroic Revolutionary woman, from whom Mrs. Clark is directly descended, to step forward and contribute a monument to be raised to Jane McAfee in Harrodsburg.

According to Mrs. Clark, the Jane McAfee strain runs in many notable American veins, and she declares she considers it a patriotic duty to honor her. The Jane McAfee Chapter, besides memorializing their patron saint, will also restore an ancient burying ground in Harrodsburg, where sleep some of the bravest and loveliest of Kentucky's sons and daughters.

RETURNS GIVE HUERTA LEAD

and by a rebel force of 3,000 under Gen. Naefra.

The war department has issued a circular to all recruiting officers to use every effort to enlist men in order to bring the army up to 125,000 as decreed by the President. The recruits are to be armed with 50,000 Mauser rifles, purchased in Japan. All retired officers are to be ordered to report to the colors.

Great Britain Changes Tone Regarding Status Of President Huerta

By JOSEPH P. ANNIN.

The State Department learned unofficially late yesterday afternoon of an announcement by the British foreign office to the effect that Great Britain's recognition of Gen. Huerta was conditional on fair, constitutional elections to select a successor.

The announcement of the British foreign office is looked upon as another step in the direction of relieving the strain which has arisen over the Mexican situation.

It is expected that the next step in Britain's course will be the recall of Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico, who was placed there solely to accomplish the protection of these special interests, and whose course has overstepped all bounds of diplomatic decorum.

Sir Lionel said to be a close friend of Lord Cowdray, over his advancement in the diplomatic service to the success he has met with in advancing certain British interests in Latin-American countries. His methods in previous campaigns have involved a moral issue, behind which this administration stood so firmly that Sir Lionel and the ministry he represented must now admit failure, and Carden's recall already is being demanded by the British press.

Wilson Statement Significant.

Students of the Mexican situation yesterday were sharply interested by President Wilson's speech in Mobile, and particularly by the passage:

"The United States will not again seek to secure one additional foot of territory by conquest."

This declaration is being studied with unusual care. That the President had in the back of his mind the possibility that armed intervention by his government involved a moral issue, behind which this administration stood so firmly that Sir Lionel and the ministry he represented must now admit failure, and Carden's recall already is being demanded by the British press.

Officials in Washington found little real information in dispatches which came into the State Department yesterday from American consuls in Mexico. It was evident from Mexican City reports that no majority could be declared, and that the Congress designated at a Huerta-dominated election will name the President. That this will be Huerta is the general belief here.

Monterey Not Fallen.

Much uncertainty surrounds the President's intentions with regard to the note which he has prepared for foreign governments. In view of the conciliatory attitude taken by Great Britain and France, almost all of his most trusted advisers urging against the promulgation of the note, it is thought possible he will withhold it for the present or renounce his original intention entirely.

While there is some report that along with this pronouncement—or in case the pronouncement is indefinitely delayed—will come recognition of the constitutionalists' faction, there was no immediate prospect of this, as far as signs yesterday indicated.

It was announced that the State Department had been informed that the reports of the capture of Monterey by the revolutionists are untrue, and that the city is still held by the Federals.

French Writer Defends Huerta; Criticizes Wilson

Paris, Oct. 27.—Another attack on President Wilson's Mexican policy appeared in the French press today. Writing to the Gaulois from Mexico City, Impartial Spectator says:

"The United States does not understand the conditions in Mexico, and Washington cannot see what is happening in the different Mexican provinces."

"The Constitutionalists are bands of pillagers, confined to one corner of the country, and three-fourths of Mexico accept the present regime. Huerta, just the strong man required by the situation. The American government, which probably is being pushed by gold, silver, and oil interests, doesn't realize Huerta's difficulties."

"The ideas of a university professor are inapplicable to people consisting of many races who speak forty different dialects and all are born fighters. A military government is necessary in each province with a strong man at the head of the army."

"When anarchy has been quelled the time will be ripe to try gentler methods, but the moment has not yet come for the test of Wilson's idealistic system."

Gaulois supports these views, and says Europe wouldn't look favorably on American intervention. The above article is from an influential ranchman who is traveling in Mexico.

EDITOR DORR ARRIVES.

Director of The Suffragist Here to Get Out Publication.

Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr, editor of the Suffragist, a new Washington publication with a national mission, reached this city yesterday and began immediate preparation for the campaign to make equal suffrage the leading political issue in the country.

The Suffragist, in its columns, will give nationwide publicity to the attitudes of the various statesmen on equal suffrage. The new publication is to be used to concentrate the effort of all suffragists upon the work of securing the national amendment.

"The suffrage movement has changed," said Mrs. Dorr last night. "Equal suffrage is no longer a debatable question. It has been settled since the late nineteenth century. It is now a question of plain politics. We will make it an issue and fight for this issue just as the law tariff issue has been fought."

"Those who oppose us, we will defeat, when possible, at the elections. Those who favor our cause, we will support. Those who are on the fence, we will reckon with our enemies, and treat them as such."

"We are not after encouragement now, but success. And we mean to achieve success. We hope and expect to have our amendment submitted to the States by the next session of Congress."

Office for the Suffragist has been opened at 140 F Street Northwest. Mrs. Dorr, its editor, has had wide experience in newspaper and magazine work.
